The Board of Directors is composed of the following gentlemen, whose well known character for integrity, honor, and public enterprise are so well known as to guarantee success, and a fair and impartial distribution of the gifts:—

Major George W Grice, President Bank of Portsmouth,
Col William Lamb, President First National Bank, Norfolk,
Gen V D Groner, General Agent Boston Steamship Company,
Captain Nathaniel Burruss, Son & Co.,

Thus the public will readily see there can be no fraud, collusion, or knowledge of what gift any number will get.

Should the tickets be not all sold when the concert comes off, the presents will be distributed in proportion to the number sold.

It is hoped the public will promptly respond to this effort to establish upon a firm basis a delightful resort during the heated months.

LOCAL MATTER.

☞ See fourth page for telegraphic news.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

No Mayor's Court yesterday.

This section is now visited by heavy frosts.

General local items in the city are scarce.

Ten Bricklayers wanted—call on John Weir.

Capt. T. C. Evans, formerly of the Hillsboro Recorder, is in the city.

Col. McElrath, of Burke, left the city yesterday morning, for the mountains.

Let the members of the Legislature subscribe for the NEWS to be sent to their friends.

The Governor's message will be quite lengthy. It will make fourteen columns in the NEWS.

J. M. Mathies, Esq., Editor of the Winston Sentinel, favored us with a visit yesterday.

A good tract of land in Halifax county is advertised for rent next year. See advertisement.

Miss Jeannie Patterson is still visiting Granville county, and will give some of her readings in Oxford before leaving.

The members of the Legislature are pretty well scattered through the town, at the private and public boarding houses.

From the indications thus far, it is probable that quite a number of Sheriffs in the State will ask for further time to settle.

The Billiard Saloon, Bar and Restaurant of Miller & Nelson, in first basement of Metropolitan Hall—open at all hours. †

We would be pleased to have the members of the Legislature call in and see us. Our exchanges are at their service.

The approach of "woman's rights" in our midst was foreshadowed yesterday by the nomination of a lady for an office in the House.

The Agent of the Ole Bull troupe was engaged yesterday in making preparations for the advent of the troupe here next Monday.

Dr. Blacknall, mine host of the Yarboro, has been kept busy during the last week. He is always ready to accommodate the public, however.

A steer runaway—upsetting one of G. T. Stronach & Co.'s drays yesterday on the street, was one of the visible effects of the Epizootic.

We learn that Col. I. J. Young has lost one of his valuable horses by the malady prevailing. The disease assumed the dropsy phase.

Fresh Lager Beer, old Kentucky Bourbon Whisky, Nash Brandy, Foreign and Imported Wines, at Frap's Saloon. Open day and night. †

The Epihippic is still spreading in the city. All the drays are drawn by oxen. Only a few mules are seen on the street. No fatal cases reported.

The receipts of cotton in the city yesterday were some one hundred bales, notwithstanding the existence of the epizootic. The feeling of the market is good.

Messrs. Gill, of Exchange Place, two doors East of the Fisher building, have corn whisky 3 years old, decidedly the best we ever saw—and we profess to be a judge.

Rather boring—the time consumed yesterday in the House of Representatives in counting the election returns for State officers. Several hours were occupied in the sport.

In the Senate yesterday morning Mr. Flemming introduced a bill looking to the altering of the State Constitution by legislative enactment. It is evident the Senate means business.

The members of the present Legislature, taking them as a whole, are good looking. A number of them are young and marriageable. We don't know how long they will remain so.

The gentlemen lately here desiring positions at the hands of the Legislature, but who were defeated, have returned to their respective homes. We should have been pleased could all have been elected.

The Senatorial election to fill the vacancy occasioned by the close of John Pool's lease of office, will take place on Tuesday next. Some half dozen names have been prominently brought before the Conservative members of the Legislature.

Rt. Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of North Carolina, will be in the city from Friday till Monday next, and will preach at Christ Church on Sunday

A bill was introduced into the Senate yesterday by Mr. Merrimon to compute, compound and adjust the public debt. This question will undoubtedly receive the careful attention of the Legislature this session.

We have been pleased to receive a large addition to our daily and weekly subscription lists within the last few days. The NEWS will be found of much value during the session of the Legislature.

METEOROLOGICAL.—The State Geologist, Prof. Kerr, has furnished us with the following meteorological report for the month of October:

Mean temperature of the month for the whole State 77°; average of the maximum, 91°; maximum (at Edenton) 96°; minimum (at Franklin) 49°; average rain fall 47 inches; minimum (at Boon) 0 6 inches. The mean temperature for the counties near the seaboard is about 80°; and of those beyond the Blue Ridge 73°. At Beaufort 28 cloudless days. The very small range of the thermometer at this point is also notable, the average range for the day being about 4° or 5°, the greatest being only 15°; an equality of climate quite exceptional and insular. The prevalence west winds (for 29 days) is also notable.

Looking back over the reports for the summer months, we find the average temperature for the season 76° 3, which is a little more than a degree above the figure usually assigned to this State; and the average of the maxima for the whole season is 90° 7. Average rain fall for the season 13.15 inches, which is about the due amount.

The crop reports for the month are quite deficient, reports being sent in from only five stations, Beaufort, Newbern, Tarboro, Weldon and Charlotte. These, taken in connection with the reports for previous months show that this must be set down as an universally abundant year, although these last reports indicate a considerable falling off in the prospects of the cotton crop in some of the middle eastern counties from blight, rust and worm.

LEGISLATIVE INCIDENTS.—Yesterday morning during the progress of the vote between Carter and Kilisler, Republican, for Assistant Door-keeper of the House. Gen. Jno C. Gorman, Republican, from Wake, in casting his vote for Mr. Carter, said, I do this through honest convictions of duty. Mr. Carter, is a one armed Confederate soldier. I, too was a Confederate soldier, and never under any circumstances, will I refuse to support one who presents to me the claims brought forward by this candidate. Gen. Gorman's vote was received with applause by the Conservative side of the House.

Miss M. McCandless, of Stokes, was nominated by the Republicans as their candidate for Engrossing Clerk of the House. Mr. Mitchell, Conservative member from Stokes, in casting his vote said: "Miss McCandless is a native of my county, and I know her personally, as a lady not only of superior attainments, but qualified mentally and otherwise for the duties of this office. I never knew her politics, that is if she had any, and to return the compliment of my friend Mr. Gorman, from Wake, I vote for Miss McCandless." Applause from the Republican side.

A. H. BOYDEN.—The young gentleman whose name heads this article was on yesterday elected Engrossing Clerk of the House by a handsome majority. His opponent was Miss L. McCandless of Stokes, nominated by the Republican side of the House. Miss McCandless was not a politician of course, and though she was recommended in the most flattering terms by General Gorman, who nominated and voted for her, was voted for by Mr. Mitchell, of Stokes, a Conservative, who said he knew her to be a most attractive lady in person, highly accomplished and thoroughly competent for the position, yet she was defeated by Boyden. Since the election, we learn that Mr. Boyden has appointed Miss McCandless his assistant, which in our opinion is just as it should be.

BROWN'S MUSEUM.—Especial attention is directed to the advertisement of "Brown's Museum of Curiosities." We spent an hour in examining his large stock of toys, fancy goods, notions, living canary and mocking birds, dollbabies that walked, crawled, talked and cried, stuffed roosters that crowed, steamboats, railroad trains, in short, any and everything, and yet we did not see one half he had.

For presents to children, presents to your sweethearts, and Christmas tricks, go to Brown. He cannot supply you go on to New York.

Remember his stand, No. 9 Fayetteville Street.

THE STATE SENATE.—The Senate is composed of quite a number of new members. Some nine of the members of the last House of Representatives are now members of the Senate. The body presents a very intelligent appearance, and will compare most favorably with that of any session for a number of years past. There are quite a number of young men upon the list of members, men of intelligence and firmness of character, and we expect to see them taking a decided position in the proceedings of that body.

THE NEWS.—We thank our friend of the Mountain Messenger for the following compliment to us in his last issue:

"The Raleigh Daily News.—The proprietors of this most excellent daily have placed us under many and lasting obligations to them for sending the daily addition in exchange for our paper. We have been a constant reader of this worthy and reliable paper almost since its first number appeared, and can recommend it to our friends as being the very best daily paper published in the State."

SHERIFFS SETTLING UP.—Sheriff Henry G. Gibbs, of Hyde, yesterday settled with the Treasurer, paying over the sum of the $2,290.82. Sheriff T. H Hughes, of Orange, paid over $7,336 30 Sheriff B. F. Briggs, of Wilson, paid $7,692.45.

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL ALMANAC.—We have upon our table the North Carolina Agricultural Almanac for 1873, published by L. Branson, Bookseller, of this city. It is a neat and useful work. He has them now ready for distribution.

A COMPLIMENT TO THE PRESIDING OFFICERS.—The Wilmington Journal of yesterday pays the following compliment to the two gentlemen just selected to preside over the two Houses of the Legislature. Says the Journal:

"Colonel John T. Morehead, of Guilford, is a young man of fine ability, a gallant soldier and a clever gentleman. He has identified himself by arduous labors with the politics of the State in every campaign since the war. He was a member of the House in 1866-'67, and took a high stand in the deliberations of that body.

"Captain J. L. Robinson, of Macon, owes his election to the industry, attention, ability and, above all, to his patriotic bearing in the last Legislature. While zealous in behalf of all the interests of Western North Carolina, he embraced the whole State in his affections, and was true to every section of North Carolina. His election will find as much favor in Eastern North Carolina as it will among his native mountains. It is especially gratifying to us

"We predict for both of these young gentlemen deserved reputation in their official positions."

COL. R. T. BENNETT.—We learn that Col. Bennett, the Representative in the House from Anson, who so gallantly commanded the noble old Fourteenth North Carolina Regiment during "the late unpleasantness," received a very complimentary vote for Speaker in the Conservative caucus on Monday. This was indeed a high compliment to Col. Bennett, as this is the first time he was ever a member of any legislative body.

Col Bennett was nominated for Congress in the Cape Fear District by the Conservative party in 1870, but declined the nomination, which Col. Waddell afterwards accepted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At the regular Convocation of Raleigh Chapter No. 10, Royal Arch Masons, held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Wm. G Hill, High Priest.
J. B Neathery, King
R. H. Bradley, Scribe.
Jno. Nichols, Capt. of the Host.
A. S. Lee, Principal Sojourner.
J R. Williams, Royal Arch Capt.
Thos. W. Blake, G. M. 3d. V.
Chas. Koppelburg, do 2d. V.
Wm. Simpson, do. 1st. V.
D. W. Bain, Secretary.
M. Grausman, Treasurer.

THE CUMBERLAND COUNTY FAIR.—This Fair commenced at Fayetteville yesterday, and will continue through three more days. We learn that the officers of the Fair have exerted themselves this year more than usual, and that it was expected that the Fair would prove pleasant to the public and profitable to the Association.

We shall have a reporter present there, in the person of Mr. Wm. E. Cobb, and any one in that section who may wish to subscribe to the NEWS can do so by seeing him.

JUST SO.—Our city readers have doubtless noticed a "wonderful lack" of local matter since the commencent of the Session of the Legislature, but it is "just so" and we can't help it. Ye Local slips and slides around as usual and notwithstanding he is the House Reporter for the NEWS, yet he finds many items that is crowded out by "Legislative" matter. This matter, however, is of strict importance to the people generally, and if some few of our city subscribers don't like the substitute, it remains "just so," and we can't help it—sorry—very sorry—but—it is "just so."

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.—This document was sent to the General Assembly yesterday. Its reading was commenced in the House, but before it was finished, the hour having arrived for the joint meeting of the two Houses to count the vote for Governor and other State officers, the farther reading was postponed until this morning. We are therefore unable to lay the message before our readers to day, but will do so in our next issue.

SMALL POX IN HARNETT.—We learn from a distinguished citizen of Harnett that reached this city yesterday evening, that the small pox is raging with much fury in what is known as the Cape Fear section of that county. Harnett is also affected with the mumps, measles and chicken pox, and it only requires the hippohonnorrhœa or epizootic to complete the list in the vocabulary of misfortunes. Poor Harnett.

DIED.—We regret to learn of the death of Jno. Stales, Esq., which occurred Monday morning at the residence of Mr. Waters, near Oakwhod Cemetery.

He was 70 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children. The funeral took place yesterday evening from the residence of Waters.

Messrs. Womble & Bro. advertise in to-day's issue the various inducements they are prepared to offer the public at their popular stand opposite Metropolitan Hall. The firm are young gentlemen, well and favorably known to the trade of Raleigh, and will doubtless receive that share of patronage that they merit.

The reading of the returns yesterday showed that a large number of votes had been cast for James Reid for Superintendent of Public Instruction, and a large number for James C. Reid. Which is which?

Snow storms occuring in various parts of the country are having a bad effect upon horses with the epizootic, and the mortality is increasing.

Ida Greeley now owns Chappaqua, it having been bequeathed to her by her mother.

St. Louis, alarmed by the burning of Chicago and Boston, is taking measures to reduce the probability of a like catastrophe overtaking its lofty houses and Mansard roofs. Hopes of safety seem to be founded in increasing the efficiency of the fire department, and adding to the number of water plugs.

The wool dealers of Boston, are fully covered by insurance. A large number of bales of wool are being recovered from ruins, the outsides of which are burned black, but the insides are good. It is believed the direct and indirect losses will not exceed $40,000,000 after the insurance is liquidated.

A drunken man named Martin Bassenger, living near Pottstown, Peoria county, Illinois, is charged with having committed a rape on his own daughter, aged 9 years, a few days ago.

The Brooklyn Eagle has found out the true cause of Greeley's defeat. It is because he belongs to the "cerebral aristrocracy."

Queen Victoria has condescended to make happy the family of John Brown, her Highland attendant, by paying them a social visit.

SMALL THINGS.

A traveller through a dusty road,
Strewed acorns on the lea,
And one took root and sprouted up,
And grew into a tree.
Love sought its shade at evening time,
To breathe its early vows;
And age was pleased in heats of noon,
To bask beneath its boughs;
The dormouse loved its dangling twig,
The birds sweet music bore;
It stood a glory in its place,
A blessing evermore.

A little spring had lost its way
Amid the grass and fern,
A passing stranger scooped a well,
Where weary men might turn;
He walled it in, and hung with care,
A ladle at the brink—
He thought not of the deed he did,
But judged that toil might drink.
He passed again—and lo! the well,
By summer's never dried,
Had cooled ten thousand parching tongues,
And saved a life beside!

A dreamer dropped a random thought,
'Twas old, and yet 'twas new—
A simple fancy of the brain,
But strong in being true;
It shone upon a genial mind,
And lo! its light became
A lamp of life a beacon ray,
A monitary flame.
The thought was small—its issues great,
A watch fire on a hill;
It sheds its radiance far a-down,
And cheers the valley still.

A nameless man, amid a crowd
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of hope and love,
Unstudied from the heart;
A whisper on the tumult thrown—
A transito y breath—
It raised a brother from the dust,
It saved a soul from death,
O germ! O fount! Oh word of love!
O thought at random cast!
Ye were but little at the first,
But mighty at the last.

THE BOSTON FIRE AND INSURANCE COMPANIES.

It has been ascertained that fifty million dollars worth of property, destroyed in the great Boston fire, was covered by insurance. Twenty-five millions of this amount were insured in companies outside of Boston, and several millions by European companies.

For humanity's sake, it is fortunate that these heavy losses have fallen upon rich citizens and upon wealthy corporations. In a few instances the fire insurance companies will not be able to meet their obligations, but most of them have stood the crisis successfully and are amply prepared to pay the full indemnity.

The question becomes an interesting one as to how many fire companies would be able to hold out against the pressure, if the calamity of Boston should happen to be succeeded by equally as disastrous fires in New York or Philadelphia, or some other densely populated city at the North? The Boston fire has demonstrated the fact, that Mansard roofs, which cover a large proportion of the dwellings in our largest cities, are highly combustible, and invite rather than repel the flames They only add dangerous fuel to a conflagration which has once fairly started.

Another question presents itself: What steps should be taken to prevent fire insurance companies from having larger risks in any place than they have actual assets? A man may have been paying his premium on his fire policy for twenty or more years; he may have expended thousands of dollars for insurance, and when a large fire comes along, and sweeps his property with that of a large number of others, behold the company suspends, and either pays nothing at all or a small per cent of the real loss! This is all wrong—it is wrong on principle, and some precaution ought to be taken to prevent such an occurrence.

We do not wish to be considered as discouraging fire insurance. Far from it. We are heartily in favor of the policy, especially in cities and towns. But policy-holders should have ample assurance that their risks are in companies that will not break by conflagrations in one or two places, however destructive such conflagrations may prove.

We advise all persons whose property is in any danger by city or village fires, to insure, but they should see to it that they are insured in strong, prudent, solvent companies which will not go down with the first serious disaster that may befall them.

There has been a recklessness manifested by some fire companies of good standing which is truly astonishing, not to say fraudulent. The law should take hold of them for the protection of the public. Their charters of incorporations should prohibit any of them from taking larger risks in any one locality than their capital will justify.

THE HOPE OF THE STATE.

The hope of North Carolina lies in the present Legislature.

The Conservatives have a good working majority in both Houses. This is a most gratifying fact, as it insures honest and economical legislation

The Executive and Judicial departments are in the hands of a party that has plunged the State almost irretrievably in debt, and brought disgrace and dishonor upon her hitherto unspotted name. The present Legislature will stand as a breakwater between a reckless and unscrupulous Governor on the one hand and a partisan judiciary on the other.

The Conservative party of North Carolina have just cause to be proud of their representatives. They will compare favorably with their predecessors before the war—when men were elected on account of their worth, integrity, popularity and high character.

The people will expect the present body to address themselves promptly to their Legislative duties, to be faithful to the public interests, to be chary of appropriations of the public treasure, to give them all the relief they can in their present pecuniary embarrassments, to do something for the cause of education and immigration, to enact such laws as the present emergency demands, and to adjourn at the earliest possible moment consistent with the highest interests of the State.

We believe the Legislature will fulfill these just expectations. We have great confidence in its patriotic purposes. If it fail in its duty, each member will be held to a strict accountability at the bar of public opinion.

1776--1876----NORTH CAROLINA AND THE CENTENNIAL.

Let us not, in the midst of the calm that follows a great political storm, fail to remember that North Carolina should keep pace with the progressive spirit of the age. Our State should by all means be represented at the Centennial Fair, to be held at Philadelphia on the 4th of July, 1876. Especially should specimens of the rich mineral wealth of Western North Carolina as well as other sections of the State be on exhibition there. It is due to the State that she be fully represented at Philadelphia, and steps should be taken at an early day in relation to the matter.

LET US HAVE HARMONY.

The interests of the people of North Carolina are above the personal ambition of any man or any set of men.

It is rumored that there are causes at work looking to the disintegration of the Conservative Democratic party as at present represented in the Legislature, and that influences are being brought to bear for that purpose.

We ask the Conservatives of the Legislature to be true to their obligations to their constituents, and to stand in united phalanx against the Radical party. They should give no heed to the appeals of interested persons whose private ambition would lead them to break asunder party ties, and thus give indirect aid and encouragement to our political enemies.

The Conservative members of the Legislature should by all means adhere strictly to party organization, and should refuse to listen to the counsels of those who pretend to believe that the party is disrupted. They will be false to the people who sent them here if they play into the hands of schemers and marplots, who are influenced by personal malice or bent upon their own promotion.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE BONDS.

The subject of adjusting the State debt will demand early attention at the hands of the Legislature. It is a delicate subject and should be handled prudently and discreetly. A wrong step may prove fatal. Nothing should be done hastily on the subject.

The representatives of the people have had ample time to consult their constituents, and it is presumed that they are thoroughly acquainted with the public sentiment in their respective counties. And while this sentiment should, and no doubt will be respected, in the matter of the public debt they cannot forget what is due to the honor of North Carolina and to the honest creditors of the State, whose claims have been long outstanding, and who appreciate our impoverished and helpless condition.

We have before announced through our telegraphic columns the action of the holders of our State Bonds in the city of Baltimore. In the Baltimore Gazette of the 16th, we notice the following account of the said meeting:

At a meeting of the holders of North Carolina State Bonds, held in Baltimore, Md., on November 15, 1872, it was resolved to memorialize the Legislature of North Carolina to adopt some plan looking to the liquidation of said Bonds, and it was further resolved to request the Legislature to fund all the Bonds, and to issue new Bonds having thirty years to run, bearing interest at the rate of three per cent. for the first five years; four per cent. for the second five years, and five per cent. for the third five years, and six per cent. from that time until maturity of the Bonds, and that we cordially invite all bond holders in the city of Baltimore favorable to this plan to call at Hooper, Reese & Co's., Bankers, No. 122 Baltimore st, and sign said memorial, which will remain there until Monday, December 2nd, and also further invite holders of North Carolina State Bonds, in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere, either to co-operate with us, or to adopt some plan to memorialize the Legislature on the same subject.

JAMES A. HOOPER,
R. W. COX, Cashier. President.

We presume the memorial, which is to be presented to our Legislature some time during December, will give further details of the proposition, and we do not, therefore, propose to discuss the matter at present. We shall have something to say on the subject when the memorial comes to hand. In the meantime we call the attention of the Legislature to the above movement of the Baltimore bond holders.

THE SMITH POISONING CASE.

Under the head of "Another Wharton Case," the New York World makes the following comments on the circumstances attending the death of Rev. Dr. J. Brinton Smith, of this city.

On the day the article was published in the World, the 16th inst., Judge Watts, on the application of the counsel of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Mann, charged with the poisoning of the husband and father, after examining a number of witnesses, unconditionally released the defendants:

"Another story of suspected poisoning has just come to light in North Carolina, which bears a singular resemblance to the case of Mrs. Wharton, not yet fully and finally disposed of in Maryland. Two women have been accused of murdering by poison, the husband of one and the father of the other. By his death, so far as appears, they have succeeded merely in reducing themselves from the condition of comfortable dependence which they enjoyed before it to a condition of uncomfortable reliance upon their own exertions for support. A chemical analysis has been made, and the unmistakable presence of strychnine was developed by it. If a chemical expert of Baltimore had given a certificate that there was strychnine in a man's stomach such a certificate would have been tolerable evidence to the reasoning mind which remembered the cases of Dr. Schoeppe and Mrs. Wharton that there was not. But in the the present case the annalysis was made in Philadelphia, and although some of the Philadelphian chemists went as far and fared as ill in the Wharton case as chemists of the Baltimore variety, no such presumption is raised. But the inference, in itself supremely improbable, that Dr. Smith was poisoned by his wife and his daughter is met by the explanation, in itself highly probable, that he had habitually taken strychnine for years under medical advice, until at last he took an overdose without medical advice. It is said to see in this case, as in the case of Mrs. Wharton, how prone people are to believe improbable evil rather than probable good of their neighbors. These women are accused of committing an unnatural crime from no assignable motive, On the other hand, to account for the death they are accused of causing there is assigned a natural and probable cause. And yet when the first charge is made against them, and there is much more than the merely legal presumption of their innocence of it, they are left utterly helpless and friendless to defend themselves against it.—We are sure our readers will agree with our correspondent who tells the story that in a land which whether or not it pretends to be Christian, at least pretends to be civilized, it is a scandal and a shame that such a thing should be.

It is needless for us to assure the readers of the NEWS that the latter portion of the World's comments are not only not justified by the facts, but that the accused, mother and daughter, received nothing but kindness and the deepest sympathy at the hands of the citizens of Raleigh during their brief incarceration.

STATE NEWS.

THE chills have left Newbern, and the city is generally healthy at present.

THE Mecklenburg Superior Court will commence Monday. Judge Logan will preside.

Mrs. Maria Lewis, wife of Wm. Lewis, Esq., of Wayne county, died on Friday last.

THE Franklin Courier, has been disposed of by R. M. Furman to Messrs. Mitchell & Baker.

THE Wilmington Star says the Register of Deeds issued six marriage licenses during last week.

THE Jefferson Messenger says Jack Blackburn and T. N. Carson made their escape from the county jail last Friday afternoon.

THE Wilmington Star says a deaf and dumb preacher, had his carpet-sack containing all his money stolen on Friday night last.

THE annual communication of the Grand Lodge of F. & A. Y. M., for the State will meet in Wilmington on the 10th of December.

THE Statesville Intelligencer says William Johnston was killed about ten miles from Wilkesboro, on Wednesday, by being kicked by a mule.

THE Goldsboro Messenger says there is a curiosity in the vicinity of Salem Meeting House, near that place in the person of a negro woman preacher.

OWING to repairs on the gas house, our city was without gas last night and night before. So says the Newbern Times, of Saturday. We are without gas on our streets all the time.

THE Wilmington Journal says: "We learn that Col. A. J. Jones, President of the Western Railroad under Gov. Holden, is lying very ill of dropsy at his residence in Bladen county."

THE Goldsboro Messenger says: We observed in our town a few days ago a negro woman, of pure African complexion, having in her arms a baby, her own child, a real Albino, with bushy flaxen hair. The child is quite a novelty. It can see nothing when in the sunshine. Father and mother are both black.

A Fatal Curse—A Bridegroom Takes His Life because His Former Betrothed Curses Him.

Bernard Hosgrave, of Pittsburg, Pa., took sulphuric acid and died from the effects of the poison. An impenetrable mystery seemed to wrap the whole affair. Why a young and healthy man, a man not at all addicted to drink, and who had been happily married within a week, should take his own life, seemed inexplicable. To add to the mystery, no one had ever suspected that he had had any serious trouble, and up to an hour of his being found writhing in self-inflicted agony he had been apparently in full health and spirits. A partial explanation of the mystery began to be whispered about last evening in the presence of some acquaintances not long before his death he had expressed the utmost love for his wife, but said that he had been cursed and could not live. This was supposed to have reference to a young woman living near the Point, to whom some three years ago he was betrothed. For some reason the engagement was broken off, and it is said that the girl had been very angry at him ever since. When the deceased went to the post office yesterday morning it was said that he received a note, and the surmise was that it was from his former betrothed, and that she had given him her curse.

He went up stairs and penned the following note, which was found on the floor after his removal and death:

"ANNIE—I can't help it, I am mad; O God, forgive me, for I can't live to be pointed at. She has cursed me, and it strikes me to the heart. O, my head swims!"

This note evidently was intended for his wife, whose name is as addressed.

Coroner West held an inquest on the remains, and the testimony given below sheds all the light that seems obtainable upon the matter. The evidence is as follows:

Annie Hosgrave, sworn: Am the wife of deceased; was married this night week; know of no reason why he should have killed himself, except that he said he was afraid of taking the fever again; never heard him threaten to take his life; he did not complain of feeling ill when he left home yesterday; he said two or three days ago that he had a pain in his head, and I thought yesterday morning that he was not quite well; after he had taken poison I went to him and asked him what he did it for, and he said he did not know, but that he thought he was taking the fever again; he had had the typhoid fever about a year ago; he died last night at twenty-five minutes before nine o'clock; he left no writing that I know of; don't know of his having had any trouble before his marriage; he was a picture-frame maker by occupation, and worked for Barker; think his note refers to a girl that he kept company with for three years before he went with me; they had been engaged to be married, but the engagement had been broken off some time before he commenced going with me; I asked him yesterday, when he was brought home, if he had seen her, and he said no; I had heard of her sending him a note from the post office; I heard of her sending him a note some time ago, telling him that she wanted to see him before the 31st of October, the day of our wedding; I know that she was very angry with him for breaking his engagement with her; Father Grace asked him in my presence if I had anything to do with his death, and he said no, that he loved me as dearly as his own life; we never had a cross word with each other since we commenced going together, ten months ago; I heard that he told Father Grace that he had been cursed and could not live.

This closed the testimony, and the jury rendered a verdict of death by suicide.

What Happened to a Bridegroom—After the Wedding Reception—a Whole Family Nearly Smothered to Death.

[Palladelphia Press, November 23.

A few nights ago the family of a prominent Chesnut street merchant made a narrow escape from death in a terrible form. A month or so ago his daughter was married, and with her husband started on a wedding tour. Upon their return a fine reception was given them, and the assembled friends did not depart until a late hour.

The family and servants being wearied with the experiences of the evening, soon retired after their guests left. About four o'clock in the morning the daughter's husband was awakened by a feeling as if a wet cloth was over his face. As soon as he regained his senses he found that there was seemingly a heavy weight upon his breast and that he had great difficulty in breathing.

He had every disposition to go to sleep again. He felt languid and in a dull stupor, but still had will enough left to feel that there was some hidden danger, and that he must arouse. By great effort he arose to a sitting posture and spoke to his wife, but she stirred not. He touched her and found that she was in violent spasms. Summoning all his strength he stumbled to his brother in laws room and awoke that gentleman with great difficulty. He also found his wife's mother in spasms.

He hastily opened a window and inhaled the fresh air, and then perceived that the house was full of coal gas, from which all were suffering. Fortunately one servant who slept in a separate room had a door closed and a window slightly lowered, and this one was at once sent for a physician. The wife's father attempted to arise from bed, but was so weak that he fell on the floor.

The phy-ician soon arrived, and restoratives were administered with complete success, except in the case of the daughter, who was in spasms for several hours, and it was ten hours before she recovered all her faculties. The physician stated that had it not been for the fortunate awakening of the son-in-law, another half hour would have put all beyond the reach of human aid. An examination disclosed the fact that the draught in the kitchen range had been turned off so far that all the gas emitted by the coal was thrown into the house, and as all the interior doors had been left open, it at once ascended to the bed chambers.

REMARKABLE SURGICAL CASE—Here is something for all surgeons to read and admire. It comes to us, like gold and great pears, from California. In 1869 Luther Corey, in Santa Cruz county, had his arm broken in two places above the elbow. One of the fractures knitted and healed; the other, owing to a splint of the bone being between the ends of the fracture, did not. After suffering great pain, Mr. Corey went to San Francisco, and the surgeons there opened the flesh on his arm and cut the callous part from off the ends of the bones, pressing the ends together and binding the arm in splints. So they remained for eighteen months, but still the bones did not knit, and the muscles of the arm became shriveled up and useless. Then Mr. Corey applied to Dr. Lane, of San Francisco, who forthwith performed the prettiest little job of surgical workmanship conceivable. He opened the arm, sprung outthe end of the bones, and, cutting off the callous parts, he beveled the ends of bones, so that each would lap a little over the other. He then riveted them together with a silver wire, and set the arm in a case. The bone then kit and healed, leaving the arm two inches shorter. Mr. Corey now uses his arm at his work, and, with the limb useful again, is once more a tip-top sawyer.

A SLAVE VESSEL CAPTURED.—An Arab slave vessel, having on board one hundred and sixty-nine slaves, was recently captured by a British cruiser in the Persian Gulf. The condition of the unfortunate creatures is described as being wretched in the extreme, many of them being sick with small-pox and scrofula of the worst types—the hold being foul with bilge water and refuse of every description, and the whole vessel being so filthy that the English sailors could scarcely endure to stay upon it even for a moment. When the slaves were transferred to the cruiser many of them were so emaciated and ill that they had to be carried about on litters. Of one hundred and sixty nine of them thirty five had the small pox, and fifteen died before the vessel reached Bomby. When this disease first broke out on the slaves, those who were attacked by it were instantly thrown overboard by the Arabs, and this villainous mode of treatment continued till forty had been sunk, and was then abandoned only because it was found to be inefficacious. Among the sufferers were many women and helpless children of all ages.

AN AMERICAN DUELIST ARRESTED IN NAPLES.—M. F. Brewster, an American, who killed the Count di Parma, a Lieutenant of the National Guard, of Italy, in a duel some months ago, has recently been arrested in Naples. The duel originated in the Count di Parma's making insulting remarks about American institutions to Mr. Brewster, in a fashionable cafe in Leghorn, which Brewster resented with a blow, for which he was challenged by the Count. They met near Leghorn—fifteen paces were measured, the combatants were blindfolded, pistols were the weapons used, and the Count di Parma fell at the first fire.

A little son of Mr. Eugene Barnes, about eight years of age, while returning to his home from school, near Georgetown, Ky., on the 7th instant, passed through a lot of hogs on his father's farm, and it is thought was playing with some small pigs, when the large hogs rushed upon him, and no one being near, killed him and eat him, with the exception of his head and shoulders.

THE RESTORATION OF SHAKSPEARE'S RESIDENCE.—"New Place," at Stratford-upon-Avon, the residence of Shakspeare for seven years previous to his death, and which had been for years occupied as a theatre building, has been restored with its gardens to its original appearance. The theatre has been pulled down and the gardens put in perfect order.

The old police commissioners of Jersey City, N. J., still refuse to surrender to the new board appointed by the governor until the validity of the appointment is sustained by the courts.

This is strictly a

HOME LIFE COMPANY.

Its Officers and Directors are citizens of the State, of high character for business capacity, enterprise and probity. It offers every that Northern Companies do, with the great additional consideration that the capital is kept within the State, and, therefore, helps to build up and foster Home Institutions.

Another important fact to be considered is, that the Wilmington Life has thus far obtained A VERY MUCH LARGER INTEREST for the money invested at home, than any of the New York companies receive for their investments, according to their sworn statements before the Commissioner of that State.

These unquestionable facts should commend this Company, above all others, to our people. Let it be born in mind that millions of dollars received for Life premiums have been sent North since the war, which at once drains the South and enriches the plethoric capitalists of the North. If there was no other consideration, safety, fairness and cheapness being equal, why North Carolinians should INSURE AT HOME, this were more than sufficient.

THE WILMINGTON LIFE

has excellent special features.

It places no restriction on Residence or Travel; it makes no extra charge for Female risks; and its Policies are incontestable after Five Years.

Its business is managed economically. Its risks are taken with equal caution. Its investments are made judiciously.

Its motto is:

"ECONOMY, PROMPTNESS, FAIRNESS."

NOON DISPATCHES.

Affairs in France.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—In the Assembly to-day a motion was made censuring Gambetta for his inflammatory speeches, and complaining of the government in dealing with the increasingly audacious Radicals. Thiers defended the government, and intimated that he might appeal to the country. He admitted that Gambetta's speeches were offensive, but claimed that the government was not responsible. Thiers demanded a vote of confidence, which resulted in yeas 267, nays 117, half the Deputies abstaining from voting.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The probable consequence of the small majority and large abstention from voting yesterday, will be that Thiers will demand a second vote of confidence.
